

Cole Peterson resides in Boulder, Wyoming and works in the Natural Gas Industry. He is a big supporter of local wholesome food. Cole shares his love by cooking delicious healthy food for his friends and family. He enjoys experimenting with food and using his pallet, he rarely follows a recipe. He appreciates nature and all it has to offer. He and his wife Nicole, hunt, grow, raise or locally source much of their foods and likes exploring a deeper sense of health and wellness. Cole also enjoys challenging himself in learning new skill sets such as music, woodworking, cooking, butchering, building, brewing, fermenting, you name it! He is excited to meet you and share his love of cooking with you.
