

Nicole Thiele resides in Boulder, Wyoming. She works as a Assistant, Guest Ranch Manager where one of her main duties is gardening and growing food. However, she loves the variety in her job and that everyday is different. Nicole is a Wyoming Master Gardener and a member of the Pinedale Sage and Snow Garden Club. She and her husband Cole are passionate about growing, hunting, and raising their own food. Nicole makes a wide variety of her own beauty and household cleaning products. She understands that it is just as important to know the ingredients of what you put on your body as in your body. Nicole loves living in Wyoming and enjoys all the outdoor activities it has to offer, camping, backpacking, hunting, fishing, hiking, and cross country skiing.
